MEMORANDUM FOR THE RECORD

SUBJECT: Meeting of the National Disaster Support Task Group

1. The fourth meeting of the National Disaster Support Task Group began at 1300 hours on 24 March 1970 at the USGS TK Facility, Reston, Virginia.

| 2.                              | USGS, mentioned that USGS had    |

| received no KH-4 domestic cover | rage north of 43 degrees north   |
| latitude. He questioned         | and Dr. O. Guthe                 |
| about the reason for this cover | rage being withheld. No explana- |
| tion could be given; however,   | said he would                    |
| look into the matter.           | •                                |

asked if any attempt was to be made to acquire a copy of all existing domestic aerial photographic coverage for disaster data base purposes. This would be a mammoth undertaking requiring a vast indexing/storage/retrieval capability equipped to handle various film and format types/sizes. Such an undertaking would probably necessitate the establishment of a new government agency with this task as its prime function. Presently the Federal Interior Department maintains domestic coverage records of both government and commercial aerial photography. The actual imagery, however, is not received. The USGS, rather, is attempting to obtain KH-4 coverage of the entire US and maintain an indexed file of the imagery. The scale and format size of the KH-4 material lends itself to an ideal storage maintenance situation.

4. At the suggestion of ______ we separated into two working groups. One group concerned itself with identification of disaster types and the other in which I participated, with identification of the tasking channels between the civilian agencies and DOD commands. The outcome of a lengthy and serious group discussion was the suggestion that a disaster task group secretariat working
